

MISS JEANNA

music teacher

the academy of performing arts

Why Miss Jeanna Loves Teaching:

"I love teaching because there's no better sound than hearing that "Aha!" moment in class. In that moment, you've expanded someone's knowledge by sharing some of your own."

Ms. Jeanna teaches beginner-intermediate violin to all ages! She enjoys working with students that may need accommodations or require other special needs. Although she is comfortable with teaching many styles of music, her favorite music to play and write is video game and punk/pop!

Jeanna began playing violin in 4th grade. When she entered her first year of high school she formed a strong bond with her violin that sparked her interest in all other instruments.

Through high school, she participated in many music festivals and helped younger students prepare for their first solo performances. Jeanna's experience working with schools, combined with her care for special needs has guided her to begin her journey of becoming a music therapist.

When Jeanna is not teaching music she loves to play Animal Crossing and create various art projects with her 3 children.
