

MISS HEATHER

dance teacher

Why Miss Heather Loves Teaching:

“Dance allows me to combine my passion for the art form with my desire to inspire and nurture young talent. I find immense joy in watching both my students and our teachers grow, not only as dancers but as individuals.”

Miss Heather is the Recreational Dance Department manager and serves as the Director of the All-Star Poms competitive program at APA!

Miss. Heather began her dance training at three, quickly falling in love with the art form. Her passion and dedication led her to pursue professional dance lessons at APA throughout her childhood and college years. Miss. Heather had the privilege of learning from various choreographers and instructors, enriching her dance education with various styles and techniques. Her talent and hard work provided opportunities to travel and perform across the United States and Europe. Heather's commitment to dance has been unwavering, as evidenced by her 20-year membership with APA, where she participated in competitive and recreational dance programs from ages 13 to 22.

Heather's teaching career began in 2008 at APA, where she has spent the past 17 years sharing her knowledge and passion for dance with her students. Specializing in Ballet, Jazz, and Poms, Heather's classes are known for their energy, precision, and creativity. Her dedication to her students' growth and success is evident in every lesson she teaches.

Miss. Heather's teaching philosophy is centered around setting the right expectations for her dancers. She believes that when students understand what is required of them to succeed and recognize her commitment to their training, they can achieve incredible opportunities. Her approach fosters a supportive and structured environment where dancers can thrive and reach their full potential.
