

MISS MCKENNA

dance teacher

Why Miss McKenna Loves Teaching:

"I believe teaching is the most rewarding job because I get to witness student growth as both dancers and individuals. I am always excited to witness this with dancers at APA!"

Miss McKenna teaches recreational dance classes while also assisting competitive dance classes to students of all ages at APA!

She is currently attending the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee to earn her BFA in Dance Performance and Choreography. Miss McKenna identifies primarily as a contemporary, jazz, and musical theater dancer/choreographer, but she has been studio trained in a variety of dance genres. Amidst being a competition dancer growing up, Miss McKenna also enjoyed participating in her high school's musicals where she was honored to be a dance captain. Most recently, Miss McKenna took on the role of choreographer.. In addition, Miss McKenna has coached a youth level All-Star team where she choreographed and assisted with multiple solos and duets as well!
